

Geo. McCullough Funeral Here Today

WAS PIONEER GRAYLING BUSINESSMAN

Grayling people are called upon again this week to mourn the passing of another pioneer citizen and prominent business man—George W. McCullough. Mr. McCullough died at his home Monday morning at 7:15 o'clock following a lingering illness. Having been in business from the time he came to Grayling in 1891 until he was stricken with illness two years ago, Mr. McCullough was an important personage of this community for nearly half a century. He served on the village council and at one time served as justice of peace and township treasurer.

Business places are closed this afternoon between the hours of 1:30 and 3:00 o'clock in respect to the deceased when the funeral services will be held at the home. The Rev. Edgar Flory of Michelson Memorial church will officiate and members of the Oddfellow lodge will attend in a body and the pallbearers will all be past masters of Grayling lodge, Paul Ziebell, Axel M. Peterson, Chris Johnson, Martin Hertz, Herbert Gothro and Chris R. King. Mr. McCullough had served the lodge in that capacity, and he was also a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and a K. of P. Interment will be in Elmwood cemetery.

George William McCullough was born July 30, 1864 in Waterford, Ontario, and was the youngest of two sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. William McCullough. When George was 12 years old his parents and his late brother Charles came to Michigan and settled in Bay City, coming to Grayling in 1891. Mr. McCullough learned the barber trade at an early age and followed that work throughout his life, conducting a tonsorial shop in Grayling from the time he came here. His father was a shoemaker by trade, but turned over his business in that line to his oldest son, the late Charles, and he himself went into the business of dealing in buggies, harnesses and agricultural implements, so the McCullough name was long connected with this community's business life.

Mr. McCullough was united in marriage to Emma McAfee and of the four children born to the union their daughter Edna survives. A beautiful companionship has existed between Mr. and Mrs. McCullough and throughout his long illness Mrs. McCullough has been ever at his side to see that he had every comfort possible. Mr. McCullough first was taken ill Feb. 21, 1935, when he was stricken with paralysis in his barber shop. His life was despaired of for several days, but he rallied and with excellent care in due time was able to be up and around with the aid of a cane. He came down town occasionally to chat with his friends which always was a pleasure to him. Seven weeks ago he became suddenly ill and had been confined to his bed since. A strange coincidence was that he passed away on the same date April 11, as his mother, and that was also that lady's birthday.

George was friendly with everyone, and he enjoyed a wide circle of warm friends. He was always cheerful and kindly. He enjoyed life and was active in the things that most men like. His barber shop was a meeting place for men of all walks of life and its welcome and pleasant atmosphere was a welcome sign that was ever enjoyed. Even though he hasn't been about town much since his sickness, he still will be missed and his departure will be mourned by a lot of warm friends.

Mrs. McCullough and daughter Mrs. Land, and other members of the family have the sincere sympathy of the community in their sorrow.

Those expected to be here in attendance at the funeral are the George Land family of Kalamazoo; Mrs. William McCullough and son Charles, Mrs. Spencer Holst, of Detroit, and Mrs. Harvey Marsh of Byron, Mich.

Grayling School Hears Famous Whistler

One of the most interesting assembly programs of the year was presented to students of the local high school last week when Ernest Nickel entertained the student body. Mr. Nickel is what is known as a concert whistler. He has appeared in the Hollywood Bowl, as well as before audiences all over the United States and Europe.

He is a master of his art and is most entertaining. Good music, with a victrola accompaniment, formed the basis of his program, but he also demonstrated his craft with bird calls that were remarkably life-like. Mr. Nickel had the whole student body whistling with him. He closed his program with a rendition of Carrie Jacobs Bond's "When You Come to the End of a Perfect Day." Mrs. Bond is a personal friend of Mr. Nickel's, and as a Michigan composer she should be known to Michigan people.

All of the bird calls heard in Walt Disney's new movie "Snow-white and the Seven Dwarfs" were the work of Mr. Nickel. This part of the sound track was run through seventeen times and each time a different bird call was put in.

All of the students in school heard Mr. Nickel for he put on another program for all of the grade pupils. In this way all of the students in school heard him. Mr. Nickel went from here on back to Flint to resume his booked tour. The trip to northern Michigan gave him appearances in Charlevoix, East Jordan, Petoskey, Gaylord, Rogers City, and Cheboygan, as well as Grayling.

MRS. HARRY CONNINE, MRS. MARIUS HANSON ENTERTAIN WITH DINNER

Some twenty ladies and gentlemen responded to an invitation from Mrs. Harry Connine and Mrs. Marius Hanson, for dinner Thursday evening at Connine's Hill.

Following the dinner four tables were in play for Contract. Mrs. C. G. Clippert and A. J. Joseph held the honor scores.

Guests included the members of the Saturday Contract club, and their gentlemen, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cliff and Dr. Fred Cook.

Easter Without Bunnies?

Nothing doing, said this youngster who found a whole colony of Easter bunnies to play with at the Merchandise Mart in Chicago. Rabbits and colored eggs are among the most popular symbols of this church event being observed throughout the Christian world April 17.

PROCLAMATION

I, George Burke, Mayor of the City of Grayling, do hereby proclaim the hours from 12 to 3 P. M. on Good Friday, April 15, as a time devoted to meditation and religious devotion.

In order that all people may have an opportunity to attend church, and in respect to the anniversary of Christ's Crucifixion, I ask that all business places be closed during those hours.

GEORGE BURKE,
Mayor, City of Grayling.

Attorney and Chaplain Kiwanis Speakers

There was a fine large attendance at the Kiwanis club meeting Wednesday at which Attorney Paul G. Eger of Lansing and Chaplain Harris were the speakers. Wm. Merrick of Gaylord, Judge Shaffer of Gladwin and Mayor Sam Atkins of West Branch were visiting guests.

Mr. Eger discussed the constitution and what it guarantees the people and pointed out the dangers that lead democracies into dictatorships. Our early settlers from foreign countries came to America principally because of religious oppression, lack of opportunity, class distinctions and similar reasons. America holds out to its citizens freedom of worship as they desire, freedom of speech and freedom of the press, which appeal strongly to the people of European nations. The speaker advocated the avoidance of centralized government and said that the municipalities from the small units of government to the highest were altogether too ready to rely upon those above them. Township, village, city, county and state governments should administer their own individual governmental units and not permit their rights to become absorbed by the larger units.

Rev. Harris is chaplain of the CCC camps of this third area, comprising eight camps. This being holy week Chaplain Harris gave a resume of the events in the life of Christ during this trying period. Special services are being held on Good Friday all over the land and he suggested that the members of the Kiwanis club attend service in some church that day. In the evening he is conducting Good Friday services in Michelson Memorial church which will be open for the public.

A. J. Joseph was elected vice president of the club to fill the vacancy left by the death of the late Chris Olsen.

On Wednesday, April 27th Carlton F. Sturdy, widely known lecturer and writer, will be the guest speaker. He devotes his entire time to speaking before service clubs, chambers of commerce and other civic organizations. He is being sponsored by the American Can Company. He tells the story of the great harvests, together with the romantic history and progress of the great food industry.

Health Institute Here April 20th

Extensive plans are being made for the Four-County Child Health Institute that will be held in Grayling all day April 20, at Michelson Memorial church. The four counties interested in the work are Kalkaska, Missaukee, Roscommon and Crawford, and various committees are working to make the Institute a real success.

There will be some very fine health lectures and the entire program is one that will meet with the public's approval. At 9:00 o'clock in the morning there will be registration and the program proper will begin at 10:00 o'clock, when Miss Evelyn Cross of Kalkaska will favor the assemblage with a solo. At 10:30 there will be an illustrated lecture on syphilis by Dr. John L. LaVan, city health officer of Grand Rapids.

At 12:00 o'clock noon there will be a luncheon and for this there will be a charge of 35c. Everything else will be free of charge that day.

Following luncheon Miss Edna Hamilton, director of nursing, Children's Fund of Michigan, will give a lecture on the "Latest Trends of Maternal and Infant Care."

Proceeding an illustrated lecture on Cancer by Dr. C. R. Keyport of Grayling, which will be at 2:00 o'clock, the Grayling high school girls sextette will render a selection.

At 3:00 o'clock Dr. R. P. Sheets, superintendent of the State Hospital at Traverse City, will give a lecture on Mental Hygiene.

The public is urged to avail themselves of this opportunity to hear these fine health lectures by these noted physicians. It is expected that here will be many people present from all four counties.

During the afternoon Grayling Unit of the Crawford County Health league will serve tea.

The luncheon at noon, which will be 35c per person, will be served by the Woman's Home Missionary society and will consist of vegetable hot dish, buttered rolls, salad, pickles, dessert and coffee. Tickets for the luncheon may be secured any time now from Mrs. Adolph Peterson.

Boys Entertained At Camp AuSable

Saturday proved to be a busy day out at Camp AuSable as the camp observed the 5th anniversary of the founding of the C.C.C. by entertaining nearly 150 boys from Grayling.

The boys from the 4th to the 12th grades were included in the invitation and by 11:30 in the morning a group had appeared, just to be sure the 1:30 "bus" didn't leave without them. At 1:30 the task of transporting the group in the camp trucks was begun. Under the direction of experienced enrollees this was quickly accomplished and the boys were ready for the afternoon entertainment.

Under the direction of Lieut. Hartley, Lieut. Flint and Educational Adviser Mr. Rozenbaum, an extensive program of track and field events was very efficiently run off. In many of the events C.C.C. enrollees competed against the Grayling boys and found them to be worthy opponents.

In the 4-man relay, the Grayling team of Bowen, Westerholm, R. Peterson and Coutts, defeated the camp crew but in the shot put the AuSable entrants really put on the heat as Winkler, Matison, and West, took the honors with heaves of 42 feet, 41 feet 1 inch, and 41 feet respectively. However, Grayling came back strong in the broadjump, placing Moshier, Coutts, and Tibbets in that order, while Coutts, Emil Tahvonen, and R. Peterson copped in the 100 yard dash. In the tug of war the camp team really went to town and took the Grayling entry over the line in short order.

The smaller boys had their day too as B. Bennett and S. Thompson took first, D. Case and C. Gierke second and J. Kolka and G. Beger third in the potato race. In the sack race L. Johnson, B. Jeffrey and C. Parker took the honors while E. Corwin and B. Nelson copped the honors in the 3-legged race, with M. and T. Stephan coming in second, with R. Clark and P. Andrews third.

The pie eating contest proved to be a battle of methods between the advocates of the scoop shovel method of attack and those who favored the suction effect. Anyway D. Case won the event, with S. Kolka and C. Papendick close behind.

The baseball game only progressed as far as the second inning when supper intervened. Perhaps one of the highlights of the day was the tour of inspection conducted by the camp officers. It was a treat to inspect the buildings and the boys enjoyed it to the fullest.

At 5:30 an excellent supper was served and soon after the boys were transported back to town, tired but very happy.

Too much cannot be said of the hospitality shown to every visitor by Lieut. Hartley, Lieut. Flint and Mr. Rozenbaum, and all the enrollees. Everybody was made to feel very much at home; the various events of the day were run off in a very efficient manner and the whole program showed the results of much hard work and careful planning.

Kalkaska Trout Festival Apr. 29-30

The annual Queen-King-Fisherman Trout Festival dance will take place Saturday, April 30 at the Kalkaska High School auditorium. The 1938 Trout Queen will be selected at this dance from a bevy of pretty girls representing many communities. The 1938 Trout Queen and King will be in person at the dance. The queen will receive the official Trout Festoon; the King will receive the official Coat of Arms.

WJR Radio Stars in Person
Tim Doolittle and his Pine Center Gang will be in person at the Kalkaska School auditorium Friday evening, April 29th. This is WJR Broadcasting station's outstanding radio artists. Come and hear them, they are really good.

The Robinson Kiddie Revue from Traverse City will also be on this program. This is an all-children cast.

"Humanity Can Be Saved," an Easter challenge to a groping world by James Hilton, author of "Good-bye Mr. Chips" and other outstanding successes, appears in This Week, the magazine with Sunday's Detroit News. Be sure to read this timely and powerful sermon.

SAFETY RULES FOR KITE FLYING

Observance of a few simple safety rules for kite flying will avoid possible dangers for children, according to Mr. Gale Clise, manager for the Michigan Public Service Company in this territory.

The coming of spring brings the advent of the kite flying season, and because of some hazards in this sport, the Michigan Public Service Company is joining other electric, telephone and telegraph companies through out the country in warning children to keep their kites away from overhead lines.

"Kites should be flown only in open spaces where there is no likelihood of their coming in contact with electric lines. Special care should be exercised in choosing the spot, for it should be remembered that the kite string is at an angle and may pass over electric lines a long distance away, perhaps out of sight.

"If a kite should become entangled in electric wires, children should not pull it or make any attempt to remove it. Under no circumstances should they climb a pole and try to bring down the kite. The proper procedure is to call the electric company, telephone company or telegraph company to which the wires belong, and linemen with proper equipment will be sent to take the kite from the lines.

"It is unsafe for children to pull down a kite from electric lines, because in so doing, the wires may be pulled together, causing a short circuit. It is possible in such cases that the wires may break and fall to the ground, causing serious injury to anyone who may be near.

"Construction of the kite should measure up to safety standards also. Kites should NEVER have wire frames. No metal or metallized cord should be used. It is dangerous to make the kite strings of wire, tinsel cord or any cord with metal strands in it because such materials are conductors of electricity. It is also important to remember that the kite cord should be kept off the ground where there is any possibility of it becoming damp. A wet kite cord becomes a conductor of electricity when it touches an electric wire.

"Kite flying is a fine sport and is entirely safe for children when they fly a properly-made kite in an open space away from electric wires. The observance of these few safety suggestions will not detract from the fun and may prevent accidents.

Grange Notes

The slogan for 1938 is "The Grange Goes and Grows" and we are trying to make that effective in Crawford county.

The Easter Bake sale and bazaar is to be Saturday, April 16th, and there will be fancy goods, baked goods and vegetables.

At Easter time our minds do dwell on the colored eggs the kiddies love so well. See the funny bunny at the Connine store he will have colored eggs galore. Nice and fresh and always the best.

Insects That Change Skin

Insects known as silverfish or fish moths change their skins five to seven times before they reach adult state.

Grayling Queen To W. B. Trout Festival

West Branch—P. J. Hoffmaster, state director of conservation will crown the Queen of Michigan's seventh annual Trout Festival here on Saturday night, April 30, according to H. W. Schulty, general chairman of the season-opening event.

Coronation ceremonies, with girls from 15 northern Michigan communities comprising the court will be one of the highlights of the three-day Festival. The Queen, however, is to be chosen by popular vote in a chamber of commerce-sponsored theater party on Tuesday night, April 19. Arrangements are being made for a 30-minute broadcast of the coronation ceremonies over station WJR, and possibly the Michigan network, with Duncan Moore of the WJR staff, as commentator.

The show will get under way Friday night, April 29, with 45 rounds of amateur boxing by the pick of northern Michigan simon-pures. Nearly all of the applications have been filed and, according to the committee in charge, all leather slingers are of first class ability as proven in previous encounters.

On Saturday there will be contests such as plug and fly casting and skeet and trap shooting. Ross Miller, expert with a nationally-known arms company will act as chief scorer for the gun events. Contestants include Ralph Teague, nationally known marksman; Don Sperry, national all-state small and sub-small gauge champion in 1937; Lawrence Angstrom, Fred Klein, O. Powell and J. W. Hebert, Bay City veterans.

One of the new features being added to this year's program will be field trials for coon hounds. Although coon hunting is one of the oldest, most favored of sports in this vicinity, the field trials are comparatively new and have proven extremely popular.

Climax of the Festival will be on Sunday afternoon with the huge mile and one-half long parade. Cities as far north as Alpena and as far south as Saginaw will be represented with floats, drum and bugle corps and bands. There will also be special circus acts on every corner of Main street.

A survey of past records shows that crowds attending Michigan's Trout Festival at West Branch have averaged well over 9,000.

PUBLIC INVITED TO C.C.C. GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES

The public is invited to attend the special Good Friday services which are being held at the Michelson Memorial church from 8:00 until 9:00 o'clock in the evening for the enrollees from the five Civilian Conservation camps in this vicinity.

Chaplain Samuel and Chaplain Harris in charge of the third inspection area of C.C.C. camps will officiate with Rev. Edgar Flory taking part. Also there will be special music in which four of the camps will be represented as well as Mrs. C. G. Clippert at the organ.

TOWNSEND CLUB MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Townsend Club at the Court house, Monday, April 18th at 8:00 p. m. Everybody invited.

AN EDITORIAL TO AN EDITOR

Perhaps an editor teaches more by what he is than by what he says. Especially is this true of the country editor who is personally known to most of those whom he serves journalistically. And in particular is it true with regard to the reputation he enjoys among his fellow members of the press. He is known for what he is. These remarks, inadequate as we feel them to be to the purpose we have in mind, are called forth by our weekly perusal of the columns of The Charlotte Republican-Tribune, of which our good friend, M. H. DeFoe, is editor. In almost every issue of his splendid newspaper, at the head of the editorial column, appears some quotation of lofty sentiment, the product of some great mind, which has left its impress upon the world for the attainment of higher and better things. In the discussion of the affairs of the community which he serves, his articles are models of friendliness and liberality, and in his discussion of partisan political matters, while he is a loyal Republican, his reasoning is distinguished by sincerity and tempered by unflinching courtesy and tolerance. He has the sound common sense to understand that fifteen million or so of his fellow countrymen, who do not think and vote just as he does, cannot in the nature of things be wholly wrong, and that they are, at least, as much entitled to a respectful hearing as he is. He realizes that in a self-governing republic the good citizen must first learn to govern himself and that angry and unreasoning denunciation and abuse can only serve to destroy that rational discussion of principles from which, in our country (may God preserve to us the splendid privileges of her institutions), good government and friendly accord can alone proceed. The humanities lack no friend in this editor. Every charitable institution in this state is the subject of special solicitude on the part of himself and his good wife. "Doc" DeFoe is given to wearing a carnation each day on his breast and it is but a fitting symbol of the flowers of manliness, kindness and constructive helpfulness which he ever carries in his heart.—Chas. H. Reed in the Clio Messenger.

Genre Painting

Though practiced in early art, as Pompeian frescoes show, and in the Middle Ages, genre painting was not recognized independently until the Sixteenth century in Flanders, where it was popularized by Pieter Bruegel. It reached its heyday in Holland in the Seventeenth century with Gerard Dou, Ter Borch, Metsu, De Hooch, Vermeer and others of note and extended to France and England in the Eighteenth and Nineteenth centuries. Among its exponents were Watteau, Chardin, Morland, Vibert, Boughton and Wilkie.

April Term of Court Adjourns Today

Shortly before noon today the Circuit court of the county of Crawford adjourned after more than a two-day session.

Thirteen cases appeared on the calendar of which two were criminal cases, three jury civil and two non-jury civil cases and six chancery.

Criminal Cases

Gaylord Knight, and William Emery, both of Roscommon, charged with violation of the game laws, were continued.

In the Jury Civil Cases

Frank LaMotte vs. Tophite SanCartier; trespass on the case. The defendant was found guilty by jury and assessed damages in the amount of $100.00.

Non-Jury Civil Cases

Opportunity Mfg. Co., a Michigan Corp., vs. Thorwald Sorenson and Alfred Sorenson, assumpsit. Judgment rendered in favor of plaintiff in the sum of $903.18 and costs of $21.80.

Charles E. Gauss, state fire marshal, vs. Emil Kraus; petition and order to show cause. Case dismissed.

In the matter of the petition of Clyde Smith and Sarah Vance Smith regarding discharge of mortgage vs. Forrest E. Woodburn. Petition granted.

Chancery Cases

The six chancery cases were all continued but one, which was the case in the matter of the Petition of George T. Gundry, Auditor General of the State of Michigan for and in behalf of said State for the sale of lands for the year 1935 and prior. Here the decree was granted.

SELECTED TO ATTEND WOLVERINE BOYS STATE

John Henry Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Holger F. Peterson, and a senior in Grayling High school is the lucky boy to be selected to attend Wolverine Boys State in Lansing, June 16 to the 25th.

This is a fine compliment to John Henry as only boys with outstanding qualifications are eligible and these include: (1) mentally alert and physically clean; (2) vigorous and enthusiastic and of good personality; (3) honest and thrifty; (4) able to get along with others; (5) good sportsmanship.

Wolverine Boys State is sponsored by The American Legion department of Michigan and each district has a quota and each select one or more boys to attend and pays his expenses while there. John Henry was selected by Grayling Post 106 with the assistance of the High School faculty.

Wolverine Boys State will be held on the campus at Michigan State College and the entire assemblage of 800 boys will become the "State of Michigan" and will function for ten days according to the laws and procedure of the state. A full set of officers will be elected including every office from the governor down together with the various departments, and the purpose is to educate our youth in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship.

Notice

THE BOARD OF REVIEW of the City of Grayling will be in session Monday and Tuesday, April 18 and 19, at the City Office.

The assessment roll will be reviewed at that time, and any complaints must be taken up with them, either by appearing in person or by mailing a letter to the City Clerk. No adjustments can be made in the assessment after the 14th.

GREAT LAKES MOTOR BUS

The Standard Ford V-8, with 60-horsepower engine, gives you a lot of car for a little money.

300,000 new owners acclaimed the "thrifty 60" last year. Hundreds a day are buying it in 1938. Why?

Because it is priced low—includes essential equipment without extra charge—and goes farther between filling stations than any Ford car ever built. Owners all over the country report averages of 22 to 27 miles on a single gallon of gasoline.

But economy isn't all the story by any means. The Standard "60" is built with the same precision as the De Luxe "85," and has the same 112-inch wheelbase chassis. It is easy to look at and ride in—as well as easy to buy and run. There's a Ford dealer near you.

The snow is gone and Spring is here; It's not uncommon to see fine deer. The sap is running, the birds seem gay As we work on the W. P. A.

Work is mighty scarce throughout the land, So the Government took the thing in hand, To give the boys a little pay Thru the medium of the W. P. A.

Some haven't worked for many years And they do so thru a flood of tears All looking forward to a better day When we'll have no need for W. P. A.

Come on you rounders, hit the ball I know you heard the Foreman call. Some give good service, some only play While working on the W. P. A.

Let us give our service with a care, Much work is needed here and there. Then on the morrow we can say We've done our bit on the W. P. A.

Geo. Horton's the Foreman; he isn't bad, I've known him since he was a lad. He'll try and help you on your way While working on the W. P. A.

Just thank your stars you're not in Spain Where bullets fly and the soul's in pain. Things will soon be better in the U. S. A. And there won't be any W. P. A.

Do your duty with a smile, You won't be here but a little while; You soon may hear St. Peter say, Just take a rest from the W. P. A.

FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO

Thursday, April 15, 1915

A very serious accident occurred at Mercy hospital last week Friday forenoon, when a pile of floor wax, which was put over the stove in the hospital kitchen to melt, became ignited in some way. Miss Hazel Garrison, who was attending it, saw it flaming up and with presence of mind lifted the burning pile from the stove and set it on the floor, which is cement, and went out of doors. Jennie Parsons, who had charge of the tray room, noticed the flames and ran across the hall to the kitchen; and on doing so her skirts caught fire and she ran down the corridor to the stockroom. Blankets were thrown around her flaming clothes and the fire soon extinguished. The young lady's burns were severe, but the patient was made as comfortable as possible. The shock, however, was too much for her and she passed away at four o'clock Saturday morning, death being due to paralysis of the heart. The burning wax caused the hospital to be filled with smoke and an alarm of fire was turned in. The flames were quickly extinguished and no damage occurred to the building, except a few smoked walls. Miss Parsons was a very quiet person and was loved by the nurses and Sisters at Mercy hospital, all of whom are greatly grieved over the death of the young lady. Her mother, who is a widow and resides at Maple Forest, was called at the time of the accident and was with her until her death. The remains were taken to her home. The deceased was 17 years old and leaves, besides her mother, three older brothers and two younger sisters to mourn her loss.

John Stone of Pinconning visited his daughter, Mrs. Frank LaSprance, here a couple of days this week.

Mrs. J. C. Burton entertained a few friends at cards Tuesday evening at her home in honor of Miss Jennie Ingley.

MIDLAND HONORS HUGH GRAY

Midland County is contributing this stone to become part of the testimonial cairn erected to honor Hugh Gray, veteran Michigan resort leader and present secretary-manager West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association. This shaft will be placed on the Old Mission peninsula, because that point is midway between the north pole and the equator. Ceremonies are scheduled for 2:00 P. M., June 28, 1938.

Midland's stone was selected by L. P. Larsen, County Supervisor (shown in picture). This boulder, outstanding as to its shape and color, was discovered on D. Young's farm in Warren Township. All of Michigan's counties will send stones typical of its prominent industry or leading mineral resources.

DEPT. OF STATE STATE NEWS BULLETIN

"Short Cuts" Banned By New Operators Law

The new motor vehicle operators statute, and regulations framed on it, have brought about a change in procedure which will hereafter prevent "short cuts" to the Department of State for the issuance of licenses.

Heretofore, motorists desiring to renew their licenses quickly, especially when preparing to drive out of the state on long absences, have brought their applications direct to Lansing, after approval by local police officials. This is no longer permitted; local police examining officers are not permitted to return approved applications to motorists. Applications must be forwarded through regular channels, to afford official control over every stage of the procedure.

Used Car Purchasers Must Change Titles

Officials of the license and title divisions of the Department of State, are cautioning motorists that failure to transfer titles to used cars from previous owners, to themselves, within ten days after purchase, makes car registrations legally void. The motor vehicle statute on this point provides: "Unless such notice is given, such motor vehicle shall be deemed to be without registration and the Secretary of State is hereby authorized to repossess the (license) plates."

Township Officers' Guide Coming Out

The Department of State will shortly start distribution of an 800 page publication to every township officer in the state, in accordance with an act of the 1937 legislature.

The book was prepared for the guidance of all township officers, in the performance of their official duties. It contains excerpts from all laws bearing on townships and township officials; the last previous compilation was issued in 1926, since when many changes have been made. There are some 190 forms used by township officers included in the book, together with a copy of the state constitution.

Distribution will be made by Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, through county clerks. Copies will be furnished to township clerks, treasurers, supervisors and qualified justices of the peace. There are 1,266 townships in Michigan, and as many as four justices of the peace in each township. This requirement, together with those for members of the legislature, state officials, the state law library and other official needs, will mean printing of about 8,000 copies of the guide. Orders for the book have accumulated from attorneys and other public sources. The book will sell for $1.50 to the public, on written application accompanied by remittance. First copies will come from the press late this week. General distribution will take place as rapidly as possible.

Escape Icy Death

When two inches of Lake Michigan ice broke under the weight of the large motor truck in which they were riding, four men from St. James, Beaver Island, had to walk 25 miles back to St. James. All were able to get out of the truck just before it sank in 36 feet of water.

Evidently attempting to steal proceeds of a basketball tournament at Vassar, thieves broke into the annex of the school building, where the money was being kept. The money had been placed in a vault in the superintendent's office, which the thieves were unable to open.

FELDBAUSER AND LOVE SCHOOLS WIN PRIZES

Among Crawford county rural schools, top honors for selling 1937 tuberculosis Christmas seals go to children of the Feldhauser school, announced the Michigan Tuberculosis Association this week. For winning the highest per capita rating of any other rural school enrollment in Crawford county, the children were awarded a set of six big books of adventure stories—Kidnapped, Robinson Crusoe, Hans Brinker, The Dog of Flanders, Wolf and the Indian, and The Dragon's Teeth. The prize was sent them in care of their teacher, Mrs. A. J. Wakeley, who supervised the sale.

Second prize, a book of fascinating Indian legends titled "Why the Owl Flies at Night," was won by the pupils at Love school, where Lloyd Dumond, teacher, had charge of the sale.

Congratulations of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association were extended to both schools by Theodore J. Werle, executive secretary of the Association. It is a privilege, declared Mr. Werle, to work each year with the rural school children and teachers.

"No small achievement has it been to maintain so fine a record," he pointed out. In doing so, the children and teachers again are helping to safeguard themselves, as well as other Michigan people, from the threat of the White Plague.

Sincerely appreciated is the fine spirit of co-operation and enthusiasm of every school in the Christmas seal sale, Mr. Werle said. Emphasis was placed on the important health work made possible through Christmas seal pennies. Health education and case-finding, Mr. Werle explained, are two very important weapons against tuberculosis which Michigan schools help to make possible by selling tuberculosis Christmas seals.

REWARD FOR CLIMBING FIRE TOWER

Lansing, April 11.—Many of the hundreds who visit the state's forest fire towers each year are possessors of a card which attests to the fact that they have by "their own efforts risen to a high position in connection with conservation affairs."

The card goes on to explain that the possessor gained this eminence by climbing one of the various 150 towers which dot the forest regions of the state and which range from 60 to 157 feet high.

The 1938 supply of these cards has just been distributed to the men who will man the towers. In addition to serving as testimony to high climbing the cards call for public cooperation in preventing forest fires.

Washington Notes And Comments

By
Congressman Roy O. Woodruff
Tenth Michigan District.

The Administration invited its own defeat in the President's Government Reorganization plan. Had the plan presented by Mr. Roosevelt been designed for a genuine reorganization of the governmental machinery, the achievement of increased economy and efficiency, and had the plan offered any relief from the Tammany bureaucracy which has steadily grown up under the New Deal, such a proposal would have been passed by an overwhelming vote.

The proposal which was originally submitted by Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers was conceded by even its most ardent supporters to embrace a conveyance by the Congress to the President of a dictatorial power which would have amounted to an abdication by the Congress of its Constitutional functions and duties. The very fact that the Administration conceded amendments to a Congress overwhelmingly controlled by members of the President's own party, is a public and irrefutable admission on the part of the Administration that its proposal was in the realm of a political autocracy.

The bill which was defeated in this Congress overwhelmingly controlled by the President's own party—made not the slightest promise of economy or efficiency and provided for none as was clearly shown by Representative Woodruff, Virginia Democrat, Acting Chairman of the Appropriations Committee, and heretofore an ardent and loyal supporter of the President, when he stated: "The creation of this Department (Welfare) will increase our financial burdens a billion dollars a year, and it may easily be two or three times that amount."

Stripped of its essentials, it was a bill designed to give the President more power; to denude the Congress of control over the expenditures of the taxpayers' funds; to deprive the Congress and the people of any method of preventing the illegal or improper expenditure of the taxpayers' money; to enable the President to change the character of the Civil Service from a merit system into a Tammany political spoils; to enable Mr. Roosevelt to set up a new Department of Welfare clothed with such broad general undefined powers as would have made any abuse or oppressive regulation perpetrated under the NRA or the AAA mild in comparison.

The Republican delegation in the Congress is in favor of a genuine governmental reorganization directed to increase efficiency and economy, and to eliminate the army of tax eaters who composed very largely of faithful party henchmen, have their snouts into the public payroll trough up to their ears.

The Democrats who voted against Mr. Roosevelt's Reorganization bill are in favor of genuine government reorganization. They did not vote against Mr. Roosevelt's proposal because they wanted to be disloyal to him or to their party, or because they do not want economy or efficiency in government. They voted against it because as one Democratic leader in the House, Representative John J. O'Connor of New York, Chairman of the Rules Committee, exclaimed: "It is just too much to swallow." Representative O'Connor put the essence of this whole fight in that one sentence. It was just too much for good Americans to swallow.

Despite all of the post-mortem analyses which, of course, will follow the defeat of this bill, it remains a stark fact that Mr. Roosevelt's incessant drive for the centralization of government in himself has had to be checked by his own Congress on several different measures including the Court packing proposal, the wage-hour proposal, the punitive tax policy, his aggressive foreign policy, and now the government reorganization scheme.

The fact that Mr. Roosevelt chose to make this an issue of purely personal loyalty to him and his desires instead of keeping these issues on the plane of good government under a Constitutional Democracy is his own fault. He alone is to blame for that situation.

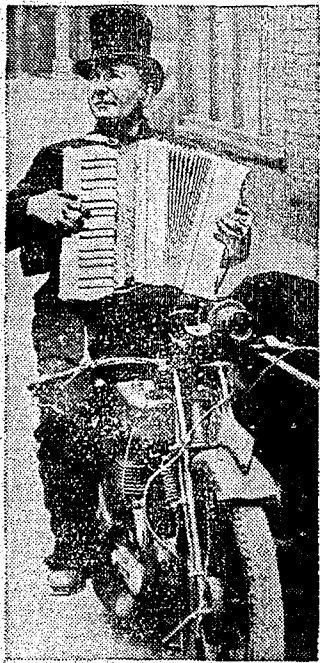

It is a very heartening thing for the American people that in these issues where Mr. Roosevelt has chosen to present to the Congress the choice of purely personal allegiance to him and his desires or allegiance to Constitutional government, the Congress on most of the issues has chosen to be loyal to Constitutional government.

It is, of course, common knowledge in Washington that Mr. Roosevelt is not yet through driving for power and more power. His next step will be to employ governmental spending and the emotional appeal of his alien refugee issue to endeavor to repair his prestige with the masses which has been so shattered by his ill-advised efforts to seek autocratic control of this nation.

One of the most singularly fallacious arguments employed in the intense propaganda drive by the White House to put over the pseudo-government reorganization plan was that the opposition to it was a Republican partisan plot to discredit Mr. Roosevelt. The complete answer to that argument is to be found in the record of the vote both in the Senate and in the House on these issues of more power for the President. The record discloses that the most able, most ardent friends and supporters of Mr. Roosevelt simply were compelled to oppose him because of their realization of the dangers to the Bill of Rights and the Constitutional government generally inherent in his policies.

The county may hope that this last lesson in the Americanism of the American people as expressed in the overwhelming opposition from the very heart of the country to the reorganization scheme, will have a salutary effect, but the keenest observers in Washington are of the opinion that this display of widespread opposition instead of impressing Mr. Roosevelt has simply aroused his increased resentment.

"SWEEP" SERENADES

Wearing a topper and mounted on a motorcycle, beside which are the tools of his trade in a sidecar, Chimney Sweep Cook of Margate, England, is a picturesque figure as he serenades potential customers. When trade is slack Cook's music often wins him a job that he would not have won except for the alluring strains of his accordion.

Pleasantness

Would you have friends? Then smile and be pleasant. It costs nothing, encourages and develops good dispositions. Good dispositions pay large dividends—dividends such as all desire, and which cannot be bought with gold.

Just realize what an asset is the pleasant way today with every one with whom you come in contact. No one likes to look or talk with a grouchy, but the pleasant countenance attracts and invites one's enemies to relent. Mix pleasantness with the day's work; you won't feel half so tired at the end of the day. It is infectious and causes the other fellow to admire and adopt your example, and thus it is passed along.

If you would have friends, be a friend to others. Practice the courteous retort, the sympathetic manner, and brotherly regard. Advocate and practice consideration for others. Be slow to condemn or criticize, but quick to respond to the appeal of one in distress or to defend one who is maligned.

If you don't like the way Bill is doing his job, don't tell others and parade his supposed shortcomings. Tell it to BILL. Perhaps he will adopt your method or convince you that his way is best. Adopt the pleasant way. It's just as easy, makes you feel more comfortable and does not injure or wound the other fellow.

CATS ARE PREDATORS

Lansing, April 13—With spring budding and the song birds coming back, one of the state's conservation laws becomes increasingly important—to cat owners. Cats are regarded, under the law, as predators and may be shot as such at any time they are running loose off the premises of their owner.

INDIRECT HIGHWAY LIGHTING

Lansing, April 13—Michigan, pioneer automobile state, set the pace for the nation today in the use of powerful reflectors for indirect night lighting of its highways.

The rectorized lighting project on US-16 between Lansing and Detroit, first of its kind in the world, bore the stamp of approval of the nation's highway, safety, and automotive leaders including Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. He characterized the "lights" as "a distinct contribution to the cause of public safety upon the highways."

Other leaders from New Jersey to Kansas, guests of State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner at a "premiere" showing of the "lights," joined MacDonald in praising the project. They included such men as J. H. Hunt, vice-president of General Motors Corporation; J. G. Vincent, chief engineer, Packard Motor Car Company; C. L. McCuen, president of the Olds Motor Works; Sidney J. Williams, director of the National Safety Council; Richard Harfst, general manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan; Norman Damon, director of the Automotive Safety Foundation; and Ernst Lieberman, Robert M. Reindollar, C. W. Brown, Harry E. Neal, E. R. Sherbaum, and A. B. Nuss, state highway authorities respectively of Illinois, Maryland, Missouri, Ohio, New Jersey, and Kansas.

The new reflectors, ten times as powerful and twice as large as one in more general use, outline the highway for a mile ahead, relieve eye strain of drivers, and otherwise bring approximate daylight driving conditions to darkened rural highways. The elimination of operating costs was a factor that led Commissioner Van Wagoner to initiate the new type of night "lighting."

THAT GARDEN

Dear Editor:

Most garden produce is rich in vitamins but we cannot afford to overlook that:

Parsley contains 50,000 to 100,000 units of Vitamin A in every 100 grammes (about 4 ounces) of the fresh leaf. Two teaspoons, level, furnish 6,000 units, a day's supply. For many years some women have depended on parsley as "medicine" for health maintenance. It is not medicine but food. It can be dried and pulverized and put in bottles for winter use. It can be used for flavoring soups, but any man, woman or child can easily "down" the small amount required.

Kohlrabi is a dainty vegetable if served when not more than 2 inches in diameter. When old it is tough but there is always a tender portion at the bottom of the bulb. Grow in the shade. Make many plantings. Boil until nearly tender, then slice thinly and fry in butter. It has 20 units of the B complex and 133 of C. When set out in September it can be grown late and stored like roots.

Swiss chard contains 17,200 of A and 250 of G. The G vitamin is growth-promoting and seems to be necessary in some way for all. Six hundred units per day are required. Chives and chard can be canned together.

Potatoes contain 40 A, 15 C and 25 G per 4 ounces. If the garden is small potatoes had better be purchased.

Chives are dainty little onion-like greens. They last from year to year. The Germans call the plant Schnittlauch (cut leek) because the tops are cut off, leaving the bulbs in the ground to grow more tops. They do well in our northern climate. They contain 100 units of vitamin C.

Lettuce too does well here. Use the Grand Rapids variety. It contains 1,130 of A, 48 B, 4 to 100 of C, and 40 to 100 of G.

Dandelion greens of giant proportions are easily found up on the hills a little later, so they say. Four ounces contain 20,000 to 72,100 of A and 10 of C. They can be canned.

Savoy cabbage is fine for vitamin B but if it cannot be raised then radishes are a good source, containing 75 units besides 28 of C. I would raise no cabbage here but Early Savoy. Winter radishes can be stored like any roots.

Mr. Editor, I have named vegetables which, on account of their vitamin content, should be in every garden. A, B and C vitamins are necessary to avoid the distressing infective troubles. Six hundred units of B and 150 of C are required.

The children, especially those under 2 years of age, should be in the sunlight as much as practicable. "Sun suits", and the scantier, the better, can soon be used. Grown-ups can profit by the same practice.

A vicious practice is that of soaking, boiling or parboiling the food and throwing away the water. This gets rid of all vitamins except A, D, and E. Housewives should study to avoid it.

Cows on pasture produce butter that contains 3,500 units of A and 150 of D (sunlight). Their milk yields 250 A, 20 B, 3 C, 4 D, and 90 G per 4 ounces.

When physicians find patients nearly dying from lack of these vitamins they give halibut liver oil and irradiated yeast, but why neglect these cheap sources in common food?

C. A. Johnson.

"Little Stories for Bedtime" by Thornton W. Burgess

BILLY MINK'S SURPRISE

BILLY MINK opened his eyes. At first he couldn't think where he was. Everything about him was strange. Then all in a flash it came to him where he was. He was in a dark corner of the haymow in the big barn where the rats lived.

Billy yawned, then he stretched first one leg, then another. He yawned again, stretched some more, then lay quiet for a few minutes trying to decide whether to take another nap or hunt those rats again.

"I may as well learn all about this barn while I am here," thought Billy. "One never knows when such knowledge may come in handy. Besides, I want to find out where all these rats live. How they did squeal and squeak when they discovered me!" Billy chuckled at the memory. "It is great fun to hunt them."

Billy lazily got to his feet and arched his back, which was one way of stretching. Then he started out to explore the big barn. Of course he didn't go far before he smelled a rat. That is to say, he smelled the scent left by the feet of a rat. Right away Billy forgot everything but the fun of hunting, the game of hide-and-seek in which death was the price of being caught. He started out along the trail of that rat. By and by, way down under some boxes he came to a nest. It was made of old rags, torn paper, and other bits of rubbish. Billy didn't knock to find out if any one was at home. No, indeed, Billy didn't knock. He just popped his head right in. He expected to find some babies at home, if no one else, because he knew that there are babies most of the time in the home of a rat.

Right then Billy got his first surprise. The nest was empty! Yes, sir, it was empty. There had been babies there, as his nose told him, but they had been carried away. Billy hunted about a bit until he found the trail leading away from the nest. This he followed. It led downstairs to a hole in the barn floor, through this to the ground, and straight to an opening which led out of doors.

"Huh!" muttered Billy. "This is queer." He ran about a bit, and it didn't take him long to discover that there were many tracks leading to that opening out of doors. He could tell by the smell that those rats had gone out and not come back.

"It looks as if my future dinners had run away," muttered Billy, and then he began to explore that barn in earnest. There wasn't a hole or crevice or cranny in it that he didn't poke his nose into. There wasn't a rat nest there that he didn't find. But not a glimpse of a single rat did he get, nor the squeak of a single voice did he hear. There wasn't a rat in the barn! When he had gone to sleep there had been many. He had heard them squeaking all about him. Do you wonder why he was surprised?

Non-partisan News Letter

Lansing—Michigan today is an economic plateau sharply cut by deep valleys.

The valleys are industrial centers where factory machines today are idle, and thousands of workers are either in WPA or relief. At Grand Rapids, for example, leading plants are operating only at 20 per cent capacity as compared with capacity production 12 months ago. And this figure goes for metal trades as well as for furniture, for furniture represents only 30 per cent of the west Michigan metropolis' industrial life.

Farms and small cities and towns constitute the plateau. While conditions are far from being rosy, Main Street is well off. Farm income has been relatively stable; Michigan enjoyed the largest percentage increase in 1937 farm income of any state in the Middle West. Ask your country cousins!

Home Building

As business entered its fourth month of the new year with few signs of a trend toward recovery, government economists are reported to be more convinced than ever that the key lies in the field of home building.

Michigan rated fourth in the nation last year in the number of new homes.

Towns like Holland and Muskegon attained remarkable results in the small homes classification.

The newly liberalized FHA provides government backing for 90 per cent of construction cost up to $6,000. Thus for $600 the American worker can have a modern house valued at $6,000, and the obligation is payable over many years at easy terms and at a low rate of interest. Furthermore, the farmer can build a new barn, purchase needed equipment, and otherwise add to his investment under advantageous terms.

The same government that criticized the Michigan automobile industry for easy installment plan financing is offering Michigan the opportunity of a life-time to get a new house.

Monthly Income

Industrial production may be scraping bottom, but the consumer's monthly income has dropped only from around 3,900 million dollars to about 3,400 million dollars.

This is heartening news, for it is buying power that counts.

With adjournment of Congress and removal of fears which produced the recent dictatorship hysteria, America is expected to get a new grip on itself. And when that moment arrives, Michigan will receive the first benefit in the industrial pickup. Watch then for a home building revival. We should be back again in the column of leading states.

Workers' Revolution

The spectacle of utility plants being seized by workers to forestall possibility of a wage cut was presented to the nation last week by the C.I.O. in Michigan.

In Europe it would be a "workers' revolution."

The New York Times gave its conservative readers the jitters on Sunday, April 3, when it devoted a front page column to the Michigan property seizure.

The remarkable thing about it, at least to outsiders, is the complicity with which Michigan officialdom accepted the situation. Governor Murphy continued his policy of mediation via the conference table. No one raised the question about sending troops, or law and order, or constitutional rights, and so on. In this modern day, such things have been apparently relegated to the limbo of the "horse-and-buggy."

A circuit court judge added confusion to the picture by announcing that state courts lacked judicial rights to interfere in labor difficulties now that the National Labor Board has jurisdiction. This was news to many citizens, who had been under the impression that the rights of property could be defended and protected in court.

Jubilantly, the C.I.O. union proclaimed it had triumphed again, forestalling any wage cuts for four months.

All of which raises a query: What next?

"Partnership"

Grand Rapids manufacturers are introducing a new program in industrial relationship.

Here is the logic: Many industrial plants in Michigan during depression years benefited the worker more than the stockholder. After the ever-staggering burden of taxes was met, wages of the workers were paid. Then the stockholder got what was left—if anything.

The complication, or "fly in the ointment," has been the neglect or indifference on the part of industrial leaders to acquaint their co-workers with the facts of the business. If the workers' wages must be paid first, why not provide the workers with a statement of operating costs, profit and loss, in an easy-to-understand form?

The manufacturer realizes that the worker is just as human as he is. He has the same appetite for food. He craves a home for his family. He enjoys movies, radio, newspapers. He wants security, but he is willing to share his future with the stockholder when he is convinced that "capital is on the level."

This viewpoint is old-fashioned neighborliness that you find in every small town.

"Industry comes back to Main Street!"

RETURNS FROM SOUTHERN TRIP

Mrs. Vernon L. Cunningham, who resides near McMaster's Bridge on the AuSable, has just returned after spending the winter months in southern Georgia and Florida. Mrs. Cunningham with two other ladies, Dr. Kirkland of Nebraska and Mrs. Hodgen of Port Huron, traveled together and they enjoyed the Florida State Fair in January and Mrs. Cunningham says it was a grand sight. The big problem was to find sleeping quarters. She says there was not a room to be had in all of Tampa, so they had to go some distance away to small towns.

In part a letter from Mrs. Cunningham says:

"We three found other greatly interested regarding the summer home that is soon to be established for aged people, be they rich or poor. They will find kindness, warmth, good food and most of all happy freedom in the great outdoors. It will not be long before the people of Crawford county will begin to take interest, noticing old people passing on with very little happiness in the late days. Let us see that they have a few happy hours while we who have plenty to spare are clinging to our pennies until they mold. Let every man and woman think of the aged, poor or rich; let us all remember how hard they have worked making it possible for we who are younger to enjoy outdoor life. My heart and soul is in this work, so let's all join in and make the old folks happy while they are with us. If any of you are willing to help in any way just leave a letter with Mr. Schumann at his office. There will be more published upon this subject from time to time. The name of this summer home is Martha's Heaven of Rest."

Charles Katz, 1st Lt. Med-Res., Camp Surgeon.

W. A. L. Willard, Educational Adviser.

Andrew K. Braidwood, Project Superintendent.

James E. Betts, W.P.A. Supervisor.

Many good citizens of the community have expressed a desire to learn more about the administration of a typical CCC camp.

With this in mind a brief statement summarizes each administrative unit, so that it is possible to picture the respective responsibilities which make out CCC units so effective as citizen builders. The Company commander is responsible for all camp activities; feeding, clothing and medical attention of all the enrollees.

The Junior Officer is in charge of the camp's mess facilities and assists the Company Commander in the administration of the camp's various duties and activities.

The Camp Surgeon is in charge of the health of the enrollees and he is also in charge of the camp's sanitary conditions.

The Educational Adviser is in charge of the educational program in the camp.

The W.P.A. Supervisor or Correspondence Study Supervisor is in charge of high school and College credit courses given to the enrollees of the camp through the affiliation of the University of Michigan.

The Project Superintendent is in charge of the work crews and various other different and important duties connected with the conservation of our wildlife, forests and streams.

NOTICE TO MOTOR VEHICLE OWNERS

On receipt of information from our Secretary of State, and State Police, in regard to "What Every Driver Must Know," will say: I have received the booklets of the laws "What Every Driver Must Know" and they are available by applying to the Police Department of Grayling, Mich. If you don't know the law, you better get one and see how much you know about driving a motor car. May 1st is your limit.

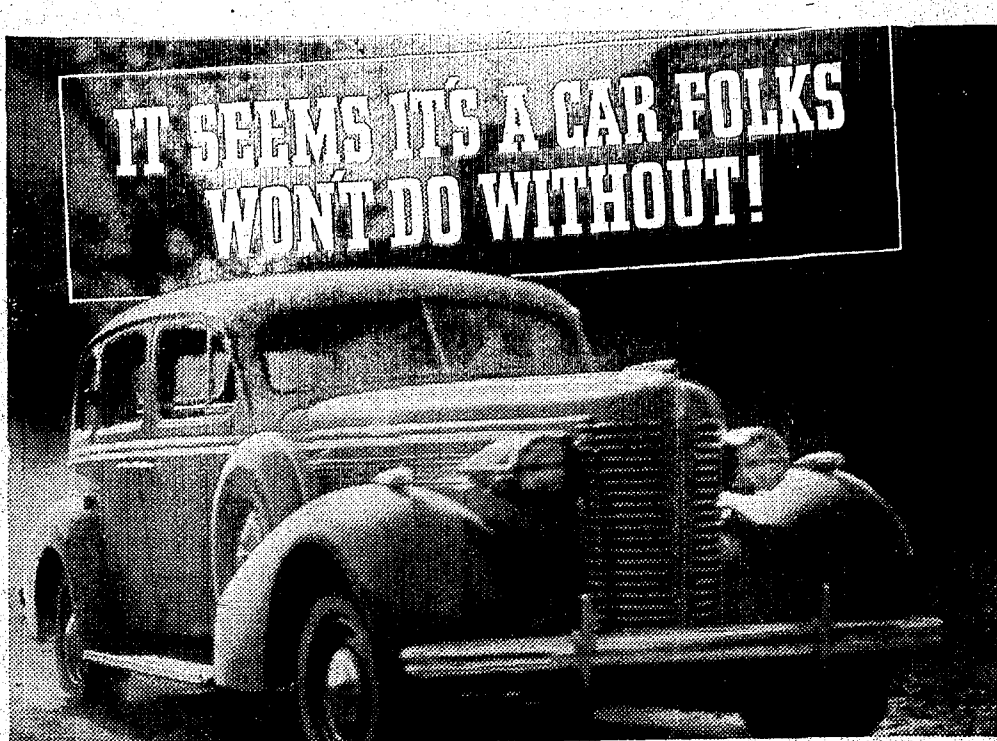

A Few Hints
Two headlights at all times, 30 minutes after sundown, and one rear light, red and bright, over license plate. Speed, 15 miles per hour in business district and 20 miles per hour in residential districts. No reckless and careless driving at any time. So don't blame the law if we have to enforce it. (Come and get a booklet.)

P. S. Drunken drivers will go to jail.

Morgan K. Paige,
Chief of Police,
Grayling, Mich.

Tombs of the Past

"Digging into the tombs of the past," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "reveals no wonders comparable to those disclosed by laboratory research for the future."

WE were pretty sure we had a great car when some months ago we checked the final blueprints on the 1938 Buick.

It had the new and mighty DYNAFLASH engine for sparkling action—the sensationally desirable TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING for a lullaby of a ride.

Looking ahead in that promising day, we figured we had every chance of getting our sales share by reason of what this car gave the buyer for his money.

Now, when times are sterner, it appears we built better than we knew—we've got a car folks just won't do without!

This great new Buick was first introduced to the public last fall. Through September, October, November, it sold in steadily increasing volume.

In a period when sales of other cars were sliding off it went ahead, in one month actually outselling one of the Big Three of the lowest-priced field.

It's still going ahead—not car Number Seven or Eight, as one might expect by its price-class, but one of the season's Four Best Sellers!

There is only one explanation of such a record when made by a car in the thousand-dollar bracket.

Such a car is so good—has so much of value in it—people just won't do without it!

They buy it not only in preference to other cars—they buy in preference to waiting for easier times and readier money-to-spend!

That's the convincing sort of car you're about to drive when you first take the wheel of a 1938 Buick.

If you haven't yet handled a new Buick, you ought to—just to see what such a car is like!

"Better buy Buick!"

Frederic Notes

Mrs. Charles Craven is much improved in health.

Lyle and Kendall Bindshatell, aged 3 and 2 respectively, in the temporary absence of their mother, Mrs. Leo Bindshatell, put the current on the electric wringer and ran in their arms full length. In spite of bruises and much tearing off of skin, it is hoped no serious harm will result.

Next Sunday at 7:30 p. m., Easter Services will be held at the M. P. Church. The Sunday School is to be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Barnes of Grayling and their Sunday school.

Lovells

Charles Owens of Maple Forest spent the week end with Johnnie Selley.

The Cheerful Givers met with Mrs. Alfred Nephew. The ladies worked on a quilt.

Mrs. Mike McCormick and daughter Louise, have returned home after spending some time at Hastings.

William T. Miller, caretaker of Big Creek Club, has returned from Detroit after visiting friends there.

Lois Winston of Maple Forest spent the week end with Lorna Deer Nephew.

Roy Small made a trip to Mio last week.

A goodly number of Lovells folks attended the carnival at Frederic last week.

Roger Caid has returned home after spending the winter with his children.

Paul Loeffler visited friends in Detroit.

The Cheerful Givers will give a dance at the Town Hall on April 22nd. Music by the Grayling Poki Dots.

When Experience Doesn't Teach
"Do not trust your philosopher when he says experience is the best teacher," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown. "Few things are more disappointing than learning law by litigation or medicine by illness."

Play Safe!

Brakes that have been working hard all winter are bound to be in need of adjustment. Your life depends on their condition—Do you know exactly what condition they are in?

Drive in for an adjustment.

Drive out fully Protected.

ALL WORKERS MUST HAVE SOCIAL SECURITY ACCOUNT NUMBERS

The Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission is requesting all Michigan workers to obtain social security account numbers from their local Social Security Board field offices. The Commission pointed out that without an identifying account number it will be impossible to determine workers' rights when benefits become payable after July 1, next.

Rough Basketball

A tooth belonging to one of the Hastings high school basketball players was lifted out of Sonny Chandler's forearm, where it had been lodged during a Hastings-Charlotte game. Chandler is a member of the Charlotte high school team. It was the third time the Hastings player had lost teeth in a basketball game.
